- Save the date: Saturday, September 10th September Kick Back from 6 pm—midnight in the Skalny Room. Tacos, low ropes teambuilding games by Camp Stella Maris staff, movies, board games and snacks. Sign up after Mass or email amncpm@rit.edu
- Are you a detail person? Good with scheduling? We really need someone who has the skills to put together the schedule for Eucharistic Ministers and Lectors for our Sunday Masses here on campus. Interested in finding out more? Email Alice amncpm@rit.edu

RIT Nation

It has been a great first week of classes here at Newman. I have enjoyed so much welcoming familiar faces and meeting new every day! Each day as I walked into campus, I was excited to see who I might meet that day. Thanks for all who have stopped by to say hi—you have been missed. And, please feel free to stop by the office, pick up a sucker and come in to say hello! Welcome all to the RIT family.

You might have already figured out that Newman has two Masses on campus each Sunday, 10 am (interpreted) and 5 pm. All are welcome! You might not have been to Mass in a very long time or you might have the practice of attending weekly...again I say, all are welcome. If you find you have questions about Mass, please reach out to me. I would love to visit and hopefully assist you in finding the answers for which you are searching. And, you might know someone you would like to bring to Mass with you...Go ahead, invite them. It might be someone on your floor or a person who sits next to you in class. I will say it again, all are welcome at Newman.

You will quickly realize that RIT is a large campus. I encourage students to make the campus a bit smaller by getting involved in some meaningful groups and organizations. For many, Newman is their “home away from home.” Through Newman Notes that come via email each week, you will discover many opportunities to get involved as well as get fed! If you have any ideas of new ways to engage others, please stop by or send me an email and we can talk about your ideas.

WE are here for you. One of my loves is assisting young people as they grow into leaders with passion and heart. There are many ways to develop leadership and no two leaders look alike. We are all lights of hope and goodness for our world. Consider Newman as one of those opportunities!! We have a place for everyone!

Peace friends. Alice MN
