RIT Nation

I had the coolest experience today. I was invited to meet with a group of seven students who meet weekly to pose questions, ponder, thoughtfully reflect and learn from and about one another in regards to their faith traditions. Some around the table were Christian, others Muslim. This group began meeting informally early in the semester and they enjoyed one another's company and the conversation, so continue week after week! I truly enjoyed my time with them and look forward to joining them again. The conversation was respectful, thoughtful and from a place that was interested in learning, not defending.

RIT offers a wonderfully diverse environment as well as rich faith opportunities through the Center for Religious Life. A group of students from various faith traditions have been meeting together for several months to understand one another and offer opportunities for the RIT community to learn and grow from one another. This group has planned an Interfaith Social event for April 7th from 7:30-9:00 pm in the Skalny Room. Here is a chance to meet other RIT students from various backgrounds and faith traditions, to get to know them and have fun. As we continue our time at RIT, let's learn about our brothers and sisters we walk next to everyday.
