RIT NATION

November is the month that we as a church remember all those we have loved who have gone home to God. Although the thought of missing those we have loved is challenging at times, this is really a wonderful tradition that helps us to remember that we continue our relationships with those we have loved. Death is not the end of the relationship, simply a change in the relationship.

We begin the month with the celebration of the Feast of All Saints on November 1 and then the Feast of All Souls on November 2. Traditionally, throughout the month of November, we remember all those who have died at the Masses of the community. Some churches have a book of remembrance, others have a basket where names of those we have loved are placed. Newman will have a basket and papers that you can write the name of those you love who have gone home to God. Each week at the when we bring the gifts of bread and wine to the altar, we will also bring up our basket of remembrance along with our gifts of money. Papers will be available at all Masses and in the Newman office throughout the month.

If you ever want to talk about some of the things in our lives that seem like mystery....(for example: how can our relationship with those who have died continue) please feel free to stop by the office. I can not always promise answers, but Kevin and Deacon Dave and I are always honored to share our experiences and thoughts as we walk with you through the questions and musings.

Agape Latte is coming up the week after Thanksgiving. Thursday, November 30th, Hammad Ghazile the director of Medical Sonography department was born in Lebanon during his country's civil war. Professor Ghazile was orphaned and raised by his grandmother. He left Lebanon and had to learn English, adapt to a new culture and eventually devoted his live to higher education and patient care. Come for wonderful deserts and an engaging story about adversity.

Interested in participating in a Service Learning Retreat over Spring Break? Newman will be going to the St. Francis Inn in Philadelphia for a week at the St. Francis Inn. More information in the Newman Notes electronic form.

Peace and good, Alice
