RIT NATION

You have made it to Thanksgiving weekend! Congratulations! We often hear that college is the best time of your life....yes, somewhat true. What this statement fails to consider is how challenging the college years can be for many. Being on your own for the first time, navigating relationships, hopes, dreams, learning so many new things, discovering that life is not as simple as one might have believed in high school. And what about those classes! The demands of being a full time student or all that is expected in co-op is a challenge all by itself! Congratulations, you have made it to Thanksgiving weekend.

This weekend, take a deep breath. Work on the projects and papers you need to complete, but in addition, be good to yourself. Watch some tv. Go for a hike or walk. Maybe do some shopping. Wash some dishes. Pet the dog. Engage in a conversation with a family member and for a moment, look at them as a spectator—seeing them with a new set of eyes, not with the eyes we have known them for so long. Listen to them, really listen—enter into a conversation about what interests them, what they are passionate about and maybe ask who are the people who have inspired them to become the man or woman they are today.

And be thankful! Who ever you spend your time with this weekend and wherever you find yourself, take a moment to savor the simple beauty of those whose company you share. Remember, as you spend time with family and friends, there is much more that unites us than divides us. And if you are reading this after you arrive back on campus on Sunday, take a few minutes to relive the weekend. Be like the leper from this weekend's gospel text who went back to Jesus to say "thank you". Who might you text or call on Sunday evening to simply say, "thanks for (a good weekend, all the effort you put into preparing dinner.....fill in the blank).

Remember we are here for you. Tiger Talks dinner and convo on Monday evening in the Skalny at 5:30 pm, Agape Latte on Thursday at 8 pm in the Fireside.

Have a good weekend. Peace and good, Alice
