RIT NATION

I am hoping that by the time you get this you will be well on your way to enjoying Spring Break. Whether you choose to stay on campus and take a week to relax and catch up on things or if you have headed to places warm or with friends or to the St. Francis Inn in Philadelphia with Newman, I hope you make it a week that fills you up with good friends, memories and what you need to successfully finish the semester.

This past weekend some noticed that I was not at Masses. Each year, for the past three years, I have been blessed to offer a parish retreat with a colleague of mine, Don Neureuther. Don lives in Portland, Oregon and with other committed people, built a school in Malawi, Africa for 600 girls. His work is inspiring and he is the kind of person that encourages me to be the best version of myself each day.

Last year, the Lenten retreat we facilitated together was in Milwaukee. This year I drew the right straw and it was here in Rochester!

As we tell stories and encourage others to take opportunities to give God the chance to whisper into our ears, I have the wonderful chance to talk about the many ways RIT Newman students inspire and engage themselves and in the world of RIT and beyond. I told stories of the challenging things students are doing for Lent. I spoke of our outreach to the homeless of Rochester and about Milkshake Masses and all the thoughtful conversations that happen on retreats and at coffee hours. It really was a delight to share the goodness of Newman with others in Rochester.

This week, 9 Newman students will venture to the St. Francis Inn for a week of service learning. We will serve between 350 and 400 people each day, help at the thrift store and women's center and listen to the stories of those who live very difficult lives. I am going to ask you a favor...will each of you reading this be willing to say a prayer for us and the people we meet this week? I would really appreciate you remembering us.

Have a great week and know that you too will be in our prayers.

Peace and good. Alice MN
