RIT NATION

Easter Joy...when we find ourselves in the middle of a normal week on campus we might be challenged to find Easter Joy. Let me tell you where I have found Easter Joy in the last few weeks and it just might inspire you to remember or discover Easter Joy in your life.

Easter Joy...visiting with one of our students who will be baptized at the Easter Vigil on Saturday evening. With a smile on his face, he simply said to me, "I am so excited!" Yes, Easter Joy.

Easter Joy...getting an email announcing to us that we received a grant for our outreach to the homeless of Rochester. In the email, the chair of the selection committee wrote, "On behalf of the grant committee, we are pleased to award the grant for the full request. ...this year we were unable to grant the full request for most organizations because our pot was smaller and the requests were greater than usual. However, the amount you requested was reasonable and we love that it is an active student-led ministry." Yes, my friends...Easter Joy.

Easter Joy...having the honor to be part of your lives, your experiences and your questions. There is nothing better than sitting down with a student to talk about a situation, experience or questions about life or God. I know I can speak for each of us on the Newman ministry staff...you fill us up! Yes, more Easter Joy.

As you make your way through another week in the semester, as we as a community remember the death and resurrection of our Lord, look for some Easter Joy. It might come up in very simple ways, it might almost slip past you if you don't look carefully. See Recognize and Savor God in our midst!

Know that we are here for you. Have a great week!

Peace and good, Alice MN
