Throughout the summer, Newman continues to worship on campus in the Allen Chapel at 10 a.m. each Sunday. Interpreters are provided if needed. See Alice if you need an interpreter this summer.

RIT Nation

For many of you, there is not much that separates you from summer break or co-op! One, maybe two—at the most, three exams! Take a deep breath. You can do this!

This past Wednesday, when the thermometer reached the high 80's, I had a hard time believing that just three days before we had snow on the ground! Surprises, looking for beauty in unexpected places. Recognizing beauty in people and places we might not have noticed before. Yes, our God really works hard at showing us all of creation is a symphony—right before our eyes and ears! As finals wrap up and as you prepare to move onto whatever is next, take a few moments to see how and where God might be trying to speak to you.

And speak to us God has—in the person of Kevin Cilano! Kevin has been one of our campus ministers this year and has been inspired himself to continue his education. He is leaving Newman at the end of this semester to begin a master's degree in Library and Information Sciences.

We will miss Kevin a great deal. His quick sense of humor, patience and compassion will long be remembered here at Newman @ RIT. Kevin will be at the Baccalaureate Mass to say goodbye to our graduates on May 10. Please keep him in your prayers as he begins this new adventure. Godspeed Kevin!

Remember that we are here for you throughout the summer months. Please feel free to stop by the office if you are on campus or to send an email. Remember that Newman continues to have Sunday Mass on campus throughout the summer at 10 am. If you need an interpreter, please let us know.

Peace and good, Alice MN
